CITY ATTACKS P. S. BOARD

ITS RIGHT TO REJECT A FRAN-CHISE TO BE TESTED.

Exceeded its Jurisdiction in Passing on Terms Already Granted, Board of Estimate Holds-$20,000 Which Caused Aldermanie Row Is Voted.

The friction which has been growing between the Board of Fstimate and the Public Service Commission came to a head yesterday when, at the suggestion of Mayor McClellan, the Board of Estimate adopted a resolution which will lead to court proceedings to test the right of the commission to pass upon the terms and conditions of a franchise granted by the Board.

The resolution refers to the refusal of the commission to approve the franchise which the Board of Estimate granted to the South Shore Traction Company to extend it lines from Jamaica to Williamsburg Bridge. The commission thought that the conditions were too liberal, that they did not sufficiently protect the interests of the city and that they gave to the company a monopoly in the territory through which the new lmes would pass.

The resolution adopted yesterday stated that the Board of Estimate, "as the local authorities under and pursuant to the provisions of the Charter, intend to maintain all the rights and privileges conferred upon them, and to that end the Corporation Counsel is hereby directed to take all necessary steps to prevent what the board believes to be an usurpation by the Public Service Commission for the First District of the power conferred upon the board by the Charter and which in effect nullifies the action of the board in fixing terms and conditions in the granting of franchises and renders the performance of duties imposed upon it by the provisions of the Charter a mere idle ceremony, and to secure from the courts by any means open to the city a construction of the provisions of Section 53 of the Public Service Commission law, which would definitely determine the powers of the said commission under such law."

The section provides that the commission may after public hourings issue to a corporation socking a franchise a "cor-tificate of public convenience and necessity." The contention made by the Board of Estimate is that the commission overstepped its powers in taking into consideration the terms of the franchise granted by the board. All the members of the heavy ways.

granted by the board. All the members of the board except Berough Presidents Coler and Cromwell voted for the resolution. They asked to be excused from voting. Corporation Counsel Pendleton will take the matter at once to the courts. The board approved the appropriation made by the Aldermen of $20,000 to be spent in celebrating the opening of the Queensboro Bridge. It was ever the expenditure of this sum that these was a row in the Aldermanic committee which expenditure of this sum that there was a row in the Aldermanic committed which has charge of the municipality's end of the celebration. Throu members of the committee resigned last were because, as they charged, the contract for fire-works and decorations had been given without their consent to a concern known as the Union Novelty and Supply Company, the estensible held of which is Joe Morris, who runs a lowstand at Fourteenth stropt and Third avenue, and who is a follower of Alderman Kennelly, who represents Charles F. Murphy's district in the board.

Robert S. Binkerd, secretary of the district in the board.

Robert S. Binkerd, secretary of the Citizens Union, filed a letter of protest against the approval of the appropriation, in the course of which he said: "The first thing which the Aldermanic committee did was to refuse to place its appropriation in the hands of the citizens' committee which has charge of the general celebration. We are reliably informed that it has voted to give its contract to the Union Novelty company, which now has an office in the rear of a real estate office at 210 East Fourteenth street. The company is organized to street. The company is organized to sell fireworks and other illuminating materials but never carried any stock, simply taking orders to fill them through

Commissioner an appropriation of $100.-000 was made to provide for the estab-lishment of a bureau to take a census of the school children next October. When the act providing for the census was passed it was estimated that the cost of it would be only about $30,000 or $40,000. Comptroller Metz said yesterday that even the increase asked for by the Police Commissioner would not be sufficient and that he thought not be sufficient and that he thought when the work of taking the census was finished the cost would be at least $200,000. He added that he regarded it as a useless

DR. MACNICHOLL EXPLAINS. Didn't Say All That He Got the Credit for About Children and Alcohel.

Dr. T. Alexander MacNicholl of 101 West Sixty-sixth street, this city, read a paper on Tuesday last at Atlantic City a up talk, the uproar swirling about the doctor's reported statement that a large percentage of the school children of the metropolis were degenerate owing to the misue of alcohol by their parents and to its more or less daily use in small quantities by the pupils themselves.

Dr. MacNicholl said yesterday that he had no wish to enter into any personal controversy; that his investigations as to the effects of alcohol on child life had been undertaken solely for scientific purposes and that he had spent fifteen years at the work in collaboration with other scientific investigators. But in view of the publicity that had attended the reading of his rever at Atlantic City. view of the publicity that had attended the reading of his paper at Atlantic City he said he felt that it would be proper for him to make a brief statement. In the first place, he said, his paper was entitled "The Relation of Alcohol to Child Life," not to school child life, and the principal declarations in it referred to children generally; of the statements which had provoked controversy only one mentioned children in the schools specifically.

one mentioned children in the schools specifically.

The paper, he said, was presented to the American Medical Society for the Study of Alcohol and Other Narcotics, a society "composed of medical educators and investigators from every section of the United States," and reported the doctor's "studies of 30,000 children of all ages from infancy to 19 years." Manifestly, as he pointed out, this included several years in the child life before the age of schooling and a few years in the life of many after schooling had ceased.

"A few of the facts embodied in the report," he said, "are as follows:

congress of physicians which has stirred speakers at the Aldermanie Committee Hearing Say the Resendale Coment Would Be Barred-All in Favor of One Kind of Paint, Others Insist.

It was asserted yesterday at another hearing held by the Aldermen's committee on buildings that if the majority report of the Building Code Revision Coma monopoly in the cement business to the Portland cement firms and to the Dixon Crucible Company in the paint to be used for structural ironwork.

In the specifications which have been prepared by the majority of the commission it is provided that all mortar used not only in foundations of buildings but also in walls and constructions of light weight where a particularly strong cement is not needed shall be made of a mixture of Portland cement. This would shut out the Rosendale cement, which is largely used in building work in this city.

At the hearing held yesterday many speakers, among whom were architects and builders, objected to being restricted to the use of Portland cement, which is dearer than the Rosendale. Among those who protested against what they termed was a discrimination in favor of one kind of mortar were Frank E. Conover of the Mason Builders Association, Clifford Richardson of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Julius Franke, the architect; Dr. Abraham Korn, vice-president of the United Real Estate Owners Association, and Francis M. Howland, president of the New York Dealers Association. It was contended by these men that if the majority report should be adopted it would put the Rosendale cement out of business and that the result would be that the Portland cement concerns by getting a monopoly of the business in this city would at concerns to the form of the Racendale cement out of business and that the result would be that the Portland cement concerns by getting a monopoly of the business in this city would at concerns to the form of the Racendale.

clause was reached W. H. L. Edwards, who represented twenty-four manufacturing concerns, made the statement that the formula which was set out in the majority report for the paint to be used in covering structural iron and steel work could only be met by one company. The adoption of this part of the new code, he stated, would shut out every company from competing for work in this city but the Dixon concern.

the Dixon concern.

Alderman Doull, who drew the minority report of the commission, which gives a larger latitude in the standard of paint to be used on new buildings, said that the graphite formula, which had been adopted by the majority of the commission was exactly similar to the graphite paint manufactured by the Dixon company, and added that the formula was one that had been patented. Alderman Kenneally, who is fighting for the majority report, said that if it could be proved that the Dixon graphite paint was a patented article he would himself move to have the paint clause stricken from the proposed code. Ultimately it was decided that the representatives of the paint makers present at the meeting should communicate with the patent authorities in Washington and should lay the results of their inquiries before the committee.

Another hearing will befield on Tuesday.
